The solicitors of Lord Salisbury have secured the libel writ obtained by O'Brien. The trial will take place at Liverpool.

attended to the grievances of the strikers, and occasionally asked a question. In reply to the question as to whether or not he had any personal interest in the welfare of the subjects in Westphalia as he did in the welfare of all his subjects, he said he had carefully followed the progress of the strike, and he had ordered thorough investigation into the facts. He warned the delegation against the plotting of political and especially military revolution, and said that there had been rioting in the Ruhr district, but that he had ordered and said that it was impossible to tolerate such conduct. When his fellow-workmen," he added, "that the Emperor himself, if necessary, will order the troops to batter and shoot the rioters," while they are quiet the other day, he said, "they will be quiet the other day." He hoped the dissidents would settle their differences without the Government meddling.

GEN. VOLNEY E. HOWARD

END OF A NOTABLE PUBLIC CAREER YESTERDAY.

His Death at Santa Monica — A Brief Review of His Career—A Contemporary of S. S. Prentiss—Member of Congress and Judge.

the oldest and most distinguished citizens of the county, and for many years the leader of the bar in this city, died at Santa Monica yesterday, at the advanced age of 80 years, loved and honored by all who knew him. Gen. Howard retired from active practice about five years ago, since which time he has been but little before the public. The increasing infirmities of age, however, made rapid progress during the past year, and about a month ago he was removed to Santa Monica, where he

Volney E. Howard was born in Oxford county, Me., October 29, 1869. His father, Richard Howard, was a farmer, and his mother, Melibute Root, the daughter of a Universalist minister of some reputation in his State, and both parents were much above the average in culture and education. Young Howard had the usual experience of the New England farmer lad, and at a suitable age he entered Bloomfield Academy, and afterward took a course at the Waterville College. He then studied law with Felix Sprague and E.

22 years was offered a partnership by his uncle, N. G. Howard, who was practicing law in Mississippi. This was in 1882, and young Howard at once started out for that State, but on his arrival at his destination, after a long and tedious journey, he found that his uncle had died some weeks previously, and he was thrown on his own resources. After finishing his legal studies he commenced the practice of law at Brandon, and soon occupied a position in the front rank of the ablest bar in the South at that time composed of such men

Poindexter and Robert J. Walker. He was elected to the Legislature in 1886, at which session Robert J. Walker was first elected United States Senator, he taking an active part in that contest. Gen. Howard was a consistent and pronounced Democrat, even at this early stage in his career, and purchased the Mississippian, which, under his able management, became the leading organ of the Democracy in the State, and further increased his fame as a writer and statesman. In 1886 he was selected as messenger to carry ington, and while there married Miss Catharine Elizabeth Goach of Massachusetts, who has been his life-long companion and bore to him a large family of children, 10 in number.

Upon his return from the National capital he was appointed Supreme Court Reporter of the State, a place he filled to the satisfaction of the entire people, and in 1846 he ran for Congress under the nominee of the Democratic party, but was defeated by George Tucker, the Whig candidate, although he ran 1000 votes ahead of his ticket.

When in the Legislature he opposed ward chosen by the Democracy to answer S. S. Prentiss in the discussion of the currency question at Jackson, in which he held his own against the leading orator and statesman of the South.

When the Union Bank failed Gen. Howard fearlessly criticised in his paper both the officers of the bank and their management, which led to a duel between himself and Hiram Runnels, the president of the institution, Runnels being the challenging party. The meeting took place at Columbus, and Gen. Howard was wounded, the bullet

When the question of repudiation came up Gen. Howard opposed it strongly, and when it was carried he moved his family to New Orleans and commenced the practice of law, but soon removed to Texas, which was then on the point of being admitted into the Union, first settling in San Antonio, and being elected a member of the first Constitutional Convention of the State. He afterward removed to Austin, where he was joined by his family. Gen. Howard's career at the Texas bar

On account of his familiarity with the Spanish grant law, Gen. Howard, in 1853, was appointed United States Attorney to the Land Commission to settle titles in California, and came to this State in that capacity. He resigned, however, in a few months, and began the practice of law in San Francisco, at once taking a high position at the bar.

lucrative practice up to 1856, when the vigilante troubles arose, when Gen. Howard took a strong stand in favor of the supremacy of the law, and was appointed by the Governor to the command of the State militia to put down the trouble. In this he was unsuccessful, and Gen. Howard removed to Sacramento, where he remained until 1858, when he returned to Oakland and resumed the practice of law. But the part he had taken against the vigilantes had made him many enemies in San Francisco, and in 1858 Gen. Howard removed to Los Angeles.

From 1861 to 1870 Gen. Howard served several terms as District Attorney, and in 1878-'79 was a member of the Constitutional Convention. At the close of the session he was taken down with pneumonia, and over-exerting himself during the campaign, before he had fully recovered, he had a relapse, and never again recovered his natural robust health.

Gen. Howard was elected Judge of the Superior Court of Los Angeles in that year (having declined the nomination for the Supreme Bench), and

This morning at 11 o'clock there will be a meeting of the bar of this city in Judge Cheney's courtroom for the purpose of arranging for the funeral of Judge Howard.

"THE ARBITRARY."

INTERSTATE COMMERCE IN SAN BERNARDINO.

The Long and Short Haul Clause Tackled by the Board of Trade and a Local Merchant—Petitions Sent to the Commissioners—An Important Case.

SAN BERNARDINO, May 14.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] The question of arbitrary freight rates over the Santa Fe Railroad, which has caused so much contention in the local press and Board of Trade, has at last taken shape in the way of petitions to the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington. The petitions and complaints were mailed yesterday. There are two petitions, each covering different features of the hated "arbitrary." The first is by George M. Cooley, a hardware dealer of this city, and the second is by the Board of Trade here, and covers a large tabulated list of commodities, which discrimination is made, according to the petition, against the business interests of this city. The petition of Mr. Cooley is specific, and says:

"The grievance which your petitioner has is this: 'He, your petitioner, is a hardware merchant, doing business in the city of San Bernardino, and has been for many years a dealer in the various kinds of hardware above mentioned in St. Louis, which he ships to San Bernardino, and the line of said railroad, and your petitioner further states that said railroads charge for said hardware a higher rate of freight from St. Louis to San Bernardino than they charge for the same class of freight from St. Louis to Los Angeles, as above set forth.

"And your petitioner specifies the following as a particular grievance suffered by him: On the 27th day of February, 1889, there was shipped to petitioner at San Bernardino from St. Louis over said line by the L. M. Runney Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of hardware in St. Louis, a carload of cast iron pipe, weighing 61,000 pounds, for which said railroads charged petitioner one dollar and twenty cents a half cent (1.20 1/2) per hundred pounds, when petitioner paid said railroads, when at the same time said railroads by their published schedules of rates were offering to carry the same class of merchandise, in carload lots, from St. Louis to Los Angeles for, and were receiving therefor, one dollar and six cents per hundred pounds. That the difference was forty-four dollars and ninety-five cents ($44.95) on said carload of pipe, of which amount your petitioner has been unlawfully deprived by said railroads.

"Therefore your petitioner prays for an order directing said railroads to refund to him the amount of said overcharge, and to receive no higher rate for transporting said classes of freight from St. Louis to San Bernardino than from St. Louis to Los Angeles, and for such other relief as is meet and proper in the premises.

The complaint is against the St. Louis, Keokuk and Northwestern Railroad Company, the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad Company, the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, the California Southern Railroad Company, and the California Central Railroad Company, defendants.

The petition of the Board of Trade sets forth in figures a comparison of rates from the Missouri River to Los Angeles and San Bernardino, as well as from St. Louis, Chicago, Cincinnati and New York, all on through freight in carload lots. The commodities enumerated consist mostly of heavy hardware and agricultural implements, although mention is made of bags, beer, wine, coffee, sugar, soap, hardware, school furniture, etc. This is thought to be the first petition ever presented to the commission from the Pacific Coast, and great interest centers in the result. The attorneys for the complainants seem very sanguine as to the issue. The section of the interstate law covering the case, as they claim, is what is known as the long and short haul clause.

This "arbitrary" as it is called here went into effect on the 16th of February last, and consists of billing commodities from the East through to Los Angeles, a terminal point, and then charging local tariff for their return to San Bernardino. It will probably be several weeks, if not months, before the petitions will be acted upon.

NOTES.

The decision of the United States Supreme Court in the case of Chae Chang Ping, the Chinaman, reported in the dispatches, has been the topic of much comment here today. All speak approvingly of the verdict.

The new county directory publishers estimate the county's population at 46,000 and the city at 10,640. According to this publication there are 34 postoffices in San Bernardino county and two foreign money-order offices.

Word just received from China says that the contemplated beet-sugar factory for that place will go up without fail.

Gov. Waterman has appointed C. W. C. Howell to this duty to the vacancy soon to be made in Department No. 1 of the Superior Court of this county by the resignation of Judge J. A. Gibson, appointed to the Supreme Court Commission of the United States.

Charles J. Perkins of this city has purchased an Inca-Hamilton station of Move Wicks, a lawyer of Los Angeles. The horse will be brought here this week.

Santa Fe Agent W. E. Damon made a trip to Los Angeles yesterday.

A large party of Spiritualists, who have been on an excursion to Summerland, in Santa Barbara county, returned today.

Death of William Taylor.

The sudden death of William Taylor, of the firm of William Taylor & Co., New York, and Taylor & Young, San Francisco, linen importers, is a shock to his friends in this city. Mr. Taylor was in excellent health about two weeks ago, when he started for San Francisco to visit his brother. The first intimation of his sickness was given in a telegram received by his wife last Friday, asking her to come to him. Before she started another more alarming message was received, and she reached his bedside just before his death.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

San Gabriel. May 13.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] Orange picking is about over.

The San Gabriel Hotel has closed for the season.

Bids for the new school house were opened on Tuesday. They ranged from $500 to $15,000.

The recent heavy rains have done but little damage here. They did one good thing, at least, in that they settled the dust on the roads lately graded in this vicinity. We have now splendid roads all over this section.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Slack lost their youngest boy a few days ago. He was a beautiful child, about 2 years old, and the pride and joy of his parents, who have the sympathy of the entire community.

P. Richards, who has been seriously ill, is recovering.

There is a pair of men at work laying the outfall sewer of the Pasadena system. They are working in the vicinity of Alhambra. The local paper is kicking about it, and calling on the citizens to get out an injunction and stop the work.

H. P. Ware of the depot store met with what might have been a serious accident on Monday last week. He was kicked in the face by one of his horses and had a part of his mustache knocked off. It was a close shave, and without a razor.

There was a game of ball played yesterday at the San Gabriel baseball grounds between the San Gabriel and the El Monte nines. The latter were victorious.

The brick for the East San Gabriel business block has commenced to arrive. The building will be put up at once.

Two of our business men had a misunderstanding the other day, or rather the other day it culminated. They are brothers-in-law, and Israelites by profession, and now they don't speak as they pass by. It was all about a horse and wagon, which one of them loaned to the other, and which the other was accused of attempting to sell for his own use and benefit.

Miss Shorb of San Marino has returned from visiting friends in San Francisco, and yesterday graced with her presence the choir at the old Mission Church. Miss Shorb is one of the most zealous and efficient members of the choir, and all were rejoiced at her return.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

Our Parks.

LOS ANGELES, May 13.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] Los Angeles is preeminently a city that depends upon tourists' money as one of her great supports. Most cities have parks as articles of luxury, so to speak, for their own citizens, and never think of regarding them as money-making mediums. For instance, but the smallest possible percentage of return has ever accrued to the cities of Chicago and Philadelphia through the tourists that have lingered in those places on account of their beautiful parks, made as such an enormous expense.

With Los Angeles it is different. Probably over 50 per cent. of the people settling here are attracted by esthetic and worldly considerations, while no one settles in Chicago or Philadelphia for these ethereal reasons—cash is the ruling magnet.

Hence, since it is true that our increased wealth and population come from tourists, it is very evident that the more attractive we make the city, the longer they will stay and the larger the percentage of strangers that will settle here.

We should, then, not be niggardly in our park appropriations, but should make them equal to those of any in the country. We would really be making a most successful business venture by using a million or two of bonds for parks, as who will gainsay that, with that amount in parks, we would not make up the $50,000 annually from the more prolonged stay of tourists within our city gates?

If the 20,000 tourists should stay but two days longer than without the parks, it would make us even, and then we would have the enjoyment of our parks at the expense of our visitors. H. G.

THE DOG-CATCHER.

Why Valuable Dogs Disappear so Often.

For some time past there has been more or less complaint among dog-owners about the illegal capture and sale of their canine pets by the dog-catchers, which has caused Poundmaster Farrell no end of annoyance, and he has been busy trying to devise some scheme by which his rascally employees could be reformed, while the past week several valuable dogs have been captured and disposed of without complying with the legal requirements as to impounding, and this has given rise to two or three suits in the minor courts. Mr. Farrell yesterday set a watch on the dog-catchers, and last evening swore out warrants against Juan Lopez, Joseph Cassullo, Frank Lisado, Raphael Noriega and Pete Dominguez, charging them with petty larceny, and they were arrested and brought to the station. The charges against all of them were afterward dismissed, with the exception of the first, who will be prosecuted, it having been discovered that they are the ring-leaders.

The Police Agony.

The Police Commissioners will meet at 2 o'clock this afternoon, when it is believed that the proposed reorganization of the force will be considered. The only question with the majority of the Commission, Messrs. Lindley, Dexter and Dexter, was as to whether it was more expedient to remove all the men in a bunch or drop them one by one, and it is believed they have arrived at the conclusion that it is better to have the whole thing over at one blow than to prolong the agony, and thus keep the force demoralized for an indefinite period. Bosqui and Loomis will also make an effort to get a hearing in regard to the charges preferred against them, and altogether the meeting promises to be a highly interesting one.

SAN PEDRO AGAIN.

THIS TIME AN IRATE WIFE WITH A RAZOR.

She Has Gone in Her Eye and Drives Her Husband to Take Refuge in a Boat in the Harbor—A Strange Society Episode.

San Pedro is bound to keep up its reputation as the most sensational town in Southern California. Last Sunday the place was thrown into a state of excitement over the antics of a woman who moves in the choice circles of the harbor city.

As the story goes she was seen to chase her husband out of their residence. He dashed off at a break-neck speed toward the docks with his better half in hot pursuit. As the enraged woman bounded through the streets it was plain to be seen that she had fire in her eye and wanted blood on her hands, for in her right hand she held a big razor, which she flourished about in a most warlike manner.

The fleeing husband looked back every once in a while, and as his angry wife seemed to gain on him, he grew paler and paler, and it is said that, as soon as he reached the wharf, he made a header into the water and swam for a boat that was moored a short distance out in the bay. The angry wife stood on the pier and glared at her husband as a cat might watch a rat. The now thoroughly frightened "hubby" sat up in the boat and shivered with fear—cold until the sun had thawed him out, but he had not a word to say to his loving wife who seemed so anxious to meet him at close range; in fact he shivered and turned pale every time he looked in her direction.

The angry woman stood at her post all day, and never for a moment did she take her eyes off of the shivering object that sat like a seagull in the stern of the boat. Lunch time came and went, and the sun gradually wended his way westward, and yet the patient woman held the fort.

Numerous citizens had been attracted to the spot by this time, and all seemed to be anxious to know what was up, for they could not understand why the lovely Mrs. Blank should stand guard over her husband, razor in hand, and a death-sentence look on her face. Question after question was put to her, but she held her place and simply looked angrier and angrier every question.

Some of the men asked if she wanted her husband, and when she nodded in the affirmative they decided to go out to the boat and bring him in, but to this she firmly objected and they let her alone.

The gossips did not let the matter drop, but went to work as in their usual custom, and yesterday it was reported that the husband has been guilty of flirting with several young women, and as soon as his wife got hold of these facts she made up her mind to perform a little surgical operation on her better half, and was preparing to carry out her scheme when he "tumbled" and ran out of the house. She followed him with her "little razor," and declares that she will hit him up and "fix" him so that he won't run around after other women, the very first opportunity. The husband is keeping out of her way, but it is believed that some sensational developments will take place in the near future.

A FLIMSY EXCUSE.

Marshal Jones Defends His Deputies.

He Thinks Only a Few Grabbed Land in Oklahoma.

And They Did It Because They Were Too Much Tempted.

The Attorney-General Not Satisfied with the Explanation, and Will Demand Another Report from Jones.

By Telegram to The Times.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(By the Associated Press.) Atty.-Gen. Miller received a report from United States Marshal Jones of Kansas in regard to the conduct of himself and deputies upon the opening of Oklahoma. Marshal Jones says: "I ordered from my old experienced deputies four, together with three new appointees, to Guthrie, to protect home-seekers against lawlessness from and after that critical moment (April 22d), where there had been stationed two or three companies of United States troops to preserve peace up to that date, whose functions ceased at the very moment when the greatest difficulties were likely to occur, and when the thousands of home-seekers, business men, gamblers and whisky dealers who rushed from the incoming trains and private conveyances until within 24 hours the entire face of the country was dotted with homesteaders' tents and two or three cities of from 1000 to 1500 inhabitants were born in one day, proved to me the necessity of a respectable number of deputy marshals. At Kingfisher I ordered two old deputies of experience and a new man, At Kingfisher, Fort Reno, I made no change and at Oklahoma City I ordered four. At the request of the officer commanding the troops at St. Alfred, for the marshal to capture horse thieves, I appointed a couple of deputies and sent them to that point. I also appointed, at the request of an officer of the Atchison Railroad, eight of their employees, most of whom were conductors, constantly passing through the Territory, in anticipation of lawlessness on trains. The full number of deputy marshals in Oklahoma, appointed by me, is 19, besides the eight temporarily appointed at the request of the railroad company.

"I believe that a few of my deputies have attempted to file on as many tracts of land in the Territory, but I know many of them have not, and while I instructed them not to do so, when they saw themselves surrounded by from 500 to 700 persons at Guthrie, and at least one-half of that number at Oklahoma waiting for the hour of 12 to come, I do not wonder that some of them—deputies who were serving without pay and only there in the interests of good order—took the fever and attempted to get a home. As to myself, I never attempted to homestead a foot of land either in Oklahoma or any other Territory or State."

In a postscript Marshal Jones says: "The country is absolutely quiet in Oklahoma, and I am astonished at the false reports of bloodshed circulated by the papers. There has not been a single person killed by a deputy in that Territory since the 22d of April."

The report is dated May 9th. It is understood that the Attorney-General is not satisfied with the report, and that he will call upon the Marshal for a supplemental report giving the name of each officer who filed a claim and a description of the land secured by him, together with an account of the attending circumstances.

EAST SIDE.

The Board of Trade Redivivus a Death.

G. M. Leliz, of 21 South Workman street, died yesterday morning of heart disease. The funeral will take place this morning at 9 o'clock.

The new Board of Trade held a session last evening at 8:30 o'clock with 12 members present. Joseph Mesmer was elected permanent president. A committee of five was appointed by the chair to take the necessary steps to secure certain books and records now in the hands of the officers of the old board, and Messrs. Hanley, Biggie, Neiswander, Hamilton and Yeakum were appointed and President Mesmer was added to the committee.

Mr. Neiswander hoped that the matter would be brought to the attention of the City Council in such a manner that they could not refrain from making appropriations for the East Side Park as well as Westlake Park. F. Biggie, Sherman Page and S. C. Newton were appointed a committee of three to attend to it.

E. A. Weed reported having interviewed Mayor Hazard on the subject of park improvements, and had received encouragement.

Secretary Weed of the previous meeting having then arrived the minutes were read, corrected and approved.

Mr. Neiswander brought up the matter of the Downey-avenue bridge, and favored an investigation into the reasons for a change of the plans from those which had been represented; also into the use which has been made of certain money paid by the Los Angeles, Utah and Atlantic Railroad Company to extend the bridge over their right of way. The investigation was opposed by Mr. Hanley, but, after much discussion, Messrs. Neiswander, Gibbs, Michaels, Hanley and Newton were appointed a committee for such investigation.

E. A. Weed then read a communication from Mr. Pratt, of the Southern Pacific Railroad, declining to place a station in East Los Angeles, and stating that the business would not justify them in the move.

Mr. Hanley moved to notify Mr. Pratt that East Los Angeles has a population of about 8000, after which the board adjourned.

A JUMPER.

But He Was Not Quick Enough to Jump the Officers.

E. Fern was arrested yesterday on a charge of attempting to leave the county to defraud his creditors, and last night he slept in the County Jail, in default of $150 bonds. On the 17th of March last Fern's wife died, and W. J. Richards, the undertaker on Second street, took charge of the funeral, the bill for which was $90.25. Shortly after Richards sold out to Nickerson & Chase, and after several attempts to collect the account, they brought suit and secured judgment, and yesterday an attachment was issued from Justice Savage's court for Fern's household effects.

Deputy Constable Harry Johnson went out to serve the paper, and when he arrived at Fern's house, he found that worthy busily engaged in packing his trunks and getting everything in shape for moving. Johnson took in the situation at a glance, and at once returned and notified Nickerson and Chase of the state of affairs, when they swore out a complaint against Fern of trying to jump the county for the purpose of fraud. A warrant was issued for Fern's arrest, and Johnson again started out after him.

He tried to evade the officer until he could get his goods packed, but this did not go, and Johnson put him in his buggy and started for town. On the way Fern tried to jump from the buggy and tried to make off, but was captured after an exciting chase, when he was tied with the hitch-strap and brought in. His bail was fixed at $150, Fern made exhibition of himself in the courtroom, when he broke down and cried like a baby. His tears, however, did no good, and he was locked up.

Yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock an alarm of fire was turned in from box 43, at the corner of Sixth and Los Angeles streets, caused by the burning of a couple of small frame stores at the corner of Wall and Seventh streets, which, together with their contents, were totally destroyed. The first was a grocery store, owned by C. S. Robinson, who says his loss will be fully $2000, partially insured. The other was a harness shop, owned by J. H. Smith, who claims a loss of $1100, on which he held a policy for $900 in the Southern California Company. The building occupied by Robinson was owned by S. S. Watson, while Robinson owned the building occupied by Smith. The fire originated in the rear of Smith's store, but how it started no one knows, as the first thing that Smith saw, who was standing talking to a man in front, was the fire bursting out of the windows. There was some trouble about getting water, and it was some minutes before the engines got started, which time the fire gained such headway that it was impossible to save the houses.

A Typo Married. Last night at 9 o'clock George E. McCallan, of the TIMES composing room, was married to Miss May McCarthy at the Cathedral, Rev. Father Adam officiating. After the ceremony the happy couple, accompanied by M. K. McLaughlin and Mrs. Rooney, the bride's sister, proceeded to Ebinger's restaurant, where supper had been provided for the party.

AN EXPERIMENT.

MADE BY TWO YOUNG LOVERS A FAILURE.

They Billed and Coined and Got Married Secretly and in Haste—The Wife Sold the Furniture and Fled to San Francisco.

About six months ago quite a romantic marriage took place in this city, but subsequent developments go to prove that the true love in this case has not run smoothly. The air is full of sensational rumors. It seems that a San Francisco family moved to this city about a year ago. The family consisted of father, mother, several small children and a grown daughter, who was not only pretty and stylish but very fascinating in her manner.

The family had not been in the city a great while when the young lady became acquainted with the son of a very respectable family who are well-to-do in this world's goods.

The young people saw a great deal of each other, and the first thing the parents of the boy knew the youngsters were engaged to be married. The old folks did not take to such a turn in what they had considered a little flirtation, and they did all in their power to break the affair off, but the young man has a will of his own, and they soon discovered that they could do nothing with him. They did not give up, but as many an other aged couple before them has done, they lectured their son every chance they got, and the result was that the lovers walked off one fine morning and were married on the quiet.

Three days after the interesting ceremony, and while the young man's parents were congratulating themselves on their success in breaking off the match, one of those disagreeable beings, who is always sticking her sharp nose in where she has no business, walked into the house, and in the most innocent manner possible, entered into the discussion of the marriage of the runaways.

The parents were astonished, for it was the first intimation they had of their son's marriage, and a strict investigation was at once begun. They soon learned that the gossip's story was correct in every respect, and the boy was called into their presence. At first he denied that there was any truth in the matter, but he broke down when he learned that his parents were in possession of certain facts, and told them the whole story. The old people talked the matter over and came to the conclusion that they had better make the best of the affair, so they forgave and forgot, and took their new daughter to their hearts.

The old gentleman, who is quite well off, rented a house for his son and daughter-in-law and fitted it up in great style. For several months all went smoothly, but the bride seemed to tire of her boy husband, and a couple of weeks ago, while he was down town, she called in a furniture dealer, and disposed of the furniture. She then wrote a brief note to her husband, in which she stated that she was tired of Los Angeles and had taken the train for San Francisco. The boy was almost distracted when he went home and found his house empty, but he made the best of a bad bargain, and returned to his parents' house and decided to let his wife go.

No new developments came to light until three or four days after the departure of the wife, when a letter from that young woman reached this city. It was addressed to the boy's husband, and asked him to hurry to San Francisco, as she was in trouble. The parents did not fancy having their son go to San Francisco, but they did not care to interfere, so he took the next train and has not since been heard from. It is a singular case, and being worked up by officers who are of the opinion that there is something wrong somewhere.

USEFUL INFORMATION. TILBURY Fox, M. D., the eminent medical writer, in his work on the "Dyspepsia" gives the following points to be taken into consideration for the purpose of curing the disease: Eating too rich or too greasy food, or too hearty eating while the excretory organs are sluggish, causes in most people indigestion or a dyspepsia, which causes the blood to move sluggishly, which in turn engenders the poison, the result is, that the excretory secretions block in the pores, which induce, each distinct inflammation being a pimple. Dr. Fox therefore does not prescribe "blood purifiers" so called, but a "dyspepsia cure" to be taken, to give his own words "the dyspepsia symptoms have disappeared." The old idea was, that face eruptions were caused by a "humor in the blood," for which they treated the blood, giving the mineral, potash. Hence the reason why the dyspepsia continues to return. Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla follows the modern ideas of Dr. Fox, and aims with gentle vegetable alternatives at the stomach and digestive organs. The reason is apparent why it cures dyspepsia and indigestion, and the pimples and skin eruptions which result therefrom, and why sarsaparillas that use minerals fail.

CONGREGATIONALISTS' THIRD ANNUAL MEETING.

Coming Meetings—Board of Trade Matters—Removal Notice—Another Recruit—Local Happenings—Personal Mention.

PASADENA, May 14.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] The third annual meeting of the General Congregational Association of Southern California opened a three days' session at the First Congregational Church in this city at 7:45 o'clock this evening. The ministers of the various churches began arriving this morning, and when roll was called this evening 20 ministers answered to their names, and either one or two delegates from Santa Barbara, San Bernardino, Ventura, Riverside, Westminster, Park and Third churches of Los Angeles, First of Pasadena, San Jacinto, Pomona, Poway, East Los Angeles, Second church of San Diego and Long Beach. The organization was soon called to order, and a musical selection opened the session, followed by the invocation by Rev. J. H. Harwood of Santa Ana.

The sermon of the evening was preached by Rev. C. T. Weitzel, of Santa Barbara, the being, "He smoke thine and starved," taken from the 18th verse of the 13th chapter of 2d Kings. The subject was "Sustained Effort in Christian Work," in which the speaker urged a following of effort after effort in this country and especially in the newer communities.

After a hymn by the congregation the business of the meeting was opened, and Rev. J. H. Harwood chosen moderator, with N. W. Blanchard of Santa Paula assistant. Rev. F. A. Field, secretary, and a nominating committee composed of C. B. Sumner, C. T. Weitzel and George F. Hill.

After the benediction had been pronounced by Rev. J. S. Silcox of San Diego, the body adjourned until Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock.

NOT PIMPLE ON HIM NOW.

Bad with Eczema—Hair All Gone—Scalp Covered with Eruptions—Thought His Hair Would Never Grow—Cured by Cuticura Remedies—Hair Splendid and not a Pimple on Him.

I have heard much praise of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. My boy, when one year of age, was bad with eczema that he lost all of his hair. His scalp was covered with eruptions, which the doctor said he would never grow again, and that his hair would never grow again.

Desiring a cure from physicians, I began the use of the CUTICURA Remedies, and I am happy to say, I received perfect success. My hair is now splendid, and there is not a pimple on him. I recommend the CUTICURA Remedies to mothers as the most speedy, economical and sure cure for all skin diseases of infants and children, and feel that every mother who has an afflicted child will thank me for so doing.

BURNS, THE DEFENDANT.
More About His Breach of Promise Case.

[San Francisco Chronicle.]
When Western Burns took a shot at William G. Lee and Lyle M. Fletcher two weeks ago, as he claimed, insulting two young seminarians and then refusing to apologize, he was heralded far and wide as a gallant defender of the name of manhood. It is now known that the defendant in a suit for $25,000 damages for breach of promise, assault, seduction and procuring a criminal operation.

Miss Emma Fillmore, who formerly resided at 707 Minna street, is the "not-devoted-of-attractiveness" young woman who has brought the suit. In her complaint she says that she and Walter F. Burns were married by Rev. J. H. Harwood on November 5, but on a date between those two days he took her to a disreputable house and there assaulted and debauched her. The complaint says he accomplished this by the use of a medicine which he called "Sustained Effort in Christian Work," which she alleges he put into a beverage, which she drank. Emma further states that Burns did not marry her because he was already married to a woman named Emma, who was living in San Francisco.

John B. Carson, who is acting as Miss Fillmore's attorney, said yesterday that he had two witnesses to prove that a verbal proposal of marriage was made by Walter, and that a physician will testify to Emma's subsequent condition. He also said that he had several very compromising letters which he claimed were written by Walter to Emma, in which the erstwhile protector of virtue asked her to meet him at well-known and not too strait-laced resorts. Carson, however, refused to produce any evidence to substantiate his client's charges. He refused even to disclose Emma's present abiding place, and was evidently in great mental trepidation for fear the reporter would find Emma and learn more about the case than was made public in the complaint.

E. O. Burns was found in his brother's office and was evidently in a state of great mental trepidation for fear the reporter would find Emma and learn more about the case than was made public in the complaint.
